

“

Simple Stuff Works Policy for Clinical Involvement

Simple Stuff Works (SSW) are a specialist provider of therapeutic positioning equipment and training. We have qualified advisors, who are trained in postural care and biomechanics of body shape distortion, who are on hand to provide advice about positioning equipment and supported lying.

We insist that a prescribing clinician is present at every new assessment we complete. They can be present online, or in person, but we will not complete the assessment without their input.

We do not insist on a clinician's presence for set ups and reviews as these can be frequent in the early stages of implementation and we recognise this could be time consuming. However, we would recommend that the clinician joins us for these events online.

If, during a review, we think a change to the original prescription is needed we will not recommend implementation of this until the prescribing clinician has been informed.

*The clinician will be copied in to all correspondence but we will not be providing a written report post set up or review. This is the responsibility of the prescribing clinician.

”